Speaker: Jo Ann Davidson

The daughter of missionary parents, Jo Ann Davidson is also a fourth generation Seventh-day Adventist. She recalls her mother saying to her, “The blessings of being a Seventh-day Adventist have surely seeped into your genes and chromosomes by now!”

Formerly a home schooling mom and music instructor, Jo Ann now teaches in the Andrews University Theological Seminary—the first woman to teach in the Theology department. She earned her Ph.D. in Systematic Theology from Trinity Evangelical Divinity School (Deerfield, IL) in 2000.

Articles she has written have appeared in the Adventist Review, Signs of the Times, and the Journal of The Adventist Theological Society. Her column, “Let’s Face It,” which has a woman’s slant on theology, appears regularly in the journal Perspective Digest. She has also authored the books Jonah: The Inside Story, published by the Review and Herald, and Toward a Theology of Beauty: A Biblical Perspective, published by University Press of America.

Jo Ann finds great fulfillment in her many roles as wife, mother, daughter, sister, auntie, teacher, musician, student, and Seventh-day Adventist Christian.
